

William H. Day Shows a Creche At Art Alliance

William H. Day, sometime art director of the old Lyceum Theatre and associated at various times with Grand Rapids, is the originator of a movement to create a really artistic and properly maintained "Creche" or "Nursery" for use in churches and Sunday schools at Christmas time and at other seasons.

For the purpose of making such an artistic property, and with the full artistic supervision, the services of Miss J. M. Lusk, an English artist of the highest reputation, who has lately come to America, have been utilized in making the individual figures.

Miss H. Maury has also contributed individual figures in the work she has done in combination with the other two artists.

These are two "Creches" one called "The Adoration of the Shepherds" and the other "The Adoration of the Kings."

The idea that dominates the two works of plastic and polychrome art now being shown at the Art Alliance of America, No. 44 East Forty-second Street, is the creation for the American church of design forms characterized by intrinsic beauty, in combination with religious feeling, that is worthy in its symbolism of the Incarnation.

In "The Adoration of the Kings" the Virgin, St. Joseph and the infant Jesus are central figures. The figures of the three kings, and the shepherds and the angels are arranged in a circle around them. The figures are introduced in a simple and direct manner, and the figures are introduced in a simple and direct manner.

Mr. Day, in his evolution from the drama in the church, has done excellent work, that is deserving of the most careful attention.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a large part of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of drastic purgatives, such as castor oil, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

Wool Jersey Shares Popularity of Blue Serge and Gabardine for Street Frocks and Permits of Much Variation by Trimming Top Coat Must Be Considered, Too.

By Mildred Lodevick.

Through the blue serge suit each year consistently leads us out of one season and looking us into the next, the autumn it will have to divide favor with the top coat. Thus one-piece frocks are at present receiving more attention than usual, for their potential wear under the top coat has to be considered.

Wool jersey has taken its stand alongside of serge and gabardine, and develops the smartest of street frocks and school frocks for young girls. It can be had in every new shade and sometimes in colors not found in other woolen fabrics. It permits of any amount of variation in trimming quite the same as serge, so that its popularity is not to be wondered at.

Always at this time of the season one begins to look for a change in the silhouette, but there will be no distinct change this autumn, for it has come gradually through the summer. Skirts, while full, are not stiff and flaring like they were in the spring, but slinky and straight hanging; no satin and soft silk will be more used than crisp taffeta.

The design I am showing to-day is admirably suited to wool jersey, as depicted at the right. In dull blue it would be pretty, with its large collar of white taffeta or white jersey cloth and its narrow half belt of black velvet. The frock is cut in one-piece from neck to hem in the front and laid generously in box plait, which are strapped to the figure at the waistline with the narrow black velvet band. In back the bodice would be neatly plain were it not for the line of flat black velvet buttons down the centre and the tassels which drip from the corners of the square collar. Rather than terminate in seams under the arms, this back portion continues around to the side fronts and offers long strap pieces as trimming to the skirt. The latter quickly assumes them as a clever concealment of pockets, which these days are a part of all frocks. The short tunic, whose deep hem is defined with a fine cord, is attached under the last box plait on each side and gathers on to the bodice. Deep cuffs hold the fullness of the puff sleeves, which are folded in to a point at the back to accommodate the tiny tassel. At the left I have suggested checked silk in red and black or red and blue as an effective and youthful trimming for a blue serge frock. Stripes silk can also be used very effectively, introducing novel color combinations, which with dark blue for the main portion of the frock would not be too obtrusive.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

Dear Fashion Editor: I am desirous of developing a frock of enclosed sample of material, brown gabardine. I am a business girl and want the dress for office wear. I am twenty-three years old, have brown hair, blue eyes and dark complexion. Will you please suggest a suitable style for me and oblige M. W. Tan suede belt and tan silk collar and cuffs.

PLANS MILLION-DOLLAR GIFT TO ERECT A NEW DEFORMITIES HOSPITAL

Kaufman May Also Provide Big Endowment Fund for Institution

Henry Kaufman, former owner of a Pittsburgh department store, is planning to give a new $1,000,000 building to the Hospital for Deformities and Joint Diseases, now at No. 1919 Madison Avenue, and may endow it as well.

Mr. Kaufman, who lives at the Biltmore Hotel, to-day admitted he had decided he could do nothing better with his money, but referred inquiries to Dr. Henry W. Frauenthal, medical director of the hospital and a member of its building committee.

"We believe Mr. Kaufman will give us the new building and perhaps endow it later," said Dr. Frauenthal. "The site for it is on Madison Avenue, between One Hundred and Twenty-third and One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Streets. The plans have been made. It will be twelve stories, with a sixty foot frontage, and will contain 100 beds exclusive for patients, with special wards for infantile paralysis."

On account of Mr. Kaufman's gift, the hospital authorities propose to use their building fund of $124,000 to pay on a mortgage and equip other buildings for their nurses and attendants. The institution does a large work, especially for children.

CROKER'S DAUGHTER GETS $10,000 GEMS BACK

Didn't Know of Their Loss Till Hotel Man Found Them in Taxicab.

Mrs. Thomas White, who was Ethel Croker, daughter of the former boss of Tammany, has regained possession of $10,000 worth of diamonds, rubies and emeralds she left in a taxicab, thanks to Chauncey D. Steele, manager of the Hotel Algonquin.

When the hotel manager stepped into a taxicab at the Grand Central Station he saw a leather case on the seat. In the case he found a dazzling collection of gems and the name of Mrs. White. When he got to his hotel Mr. Steele called Mrs. White and told her of his find. She replied that she had not lost anything. A little later, however, she called up the hotel man and claimed the jewels. She said that she must have left the case in the cab on her return home from the station after a trip to Montreal.
